VOGUE DIRECTORY:

Marc Jacobs His Eighties redux is upbeat, optimistic and witty. Young or old, Jacobs's big-shouldered blouses and impeccable leg-lengthening trousers are eternally empowering.

Maria Cornejo A Michelle Obama favourite. Here, you'll find leather gilets, classic cocoon coats and silk shifts, and all utterly worthy of the First Lady's approval.

Marni Metallic brocades, chintz prints, bright pops of felt... Consuelo Castiglioni designs for the creatively minded, with asymmetric dresses, mannish trousers, boxy jackets and capelets.

Missoni Angela Missoni's colourful knitwear is intended to be worn layered. How to avoid the bulk? Her elongated shapes and tissue-thin weaves are a winning formula.

Prada Fashion's big thinker Miuccia Prada can magic a want-to-keep-forever cocktail dress to suit any age.

Rick Owens This designer's signature leather jackets have limb-lengthening powers and only get better with age. Likewise his wispy jersey T-shirts – wear sheer and scantily if you're young; if you're older, layer up.

Rochas Reawakened this season by Marco Zanini (Rochas suspended ready-to-wear in 2006), the result: refined feminine clothes with timeless appeal. Invest in one of Zanini's chiffon-lined cashmere cardigans.

Roland Mouret Recall the hysteria of the Galaxy and the Moon? Master-cutter Roland Mouret creates miracle va-va-voom dresses with age-defying body-contouring benefits. Buy the Scirocco dress in dark jade with flattering cap sleeves now, or, what Mouret refers to as the TTD (a tunic, top or dress), and wear whichever way suits.

Vivienne Westwood What lies beneath her iridescent taffeta? Body-sculpting corsetry. Little wonder why women of all ages and body types – from campaign girl Pamela Anderson to the Duchess of Cornwall – adore her designs.

Yves Saint Laurent The YSL style vernacular includes grey flannel tailoring, leather jackets and Le Smoking (arriving in the flattering shape of a black tuxedo coatdress for autumn) – three styles we bet you'll never tire of. Partner all with Stefano Pilati's Tribute shoes. SH
